6.1.2 The effective leadership is visible in various institutional practices such as decentralization and participative management

Response:

Our college has a well-equipped library. The work of this library is looked after by the college librarian and his committee. The coordinator of this committee is the librarian and the professors of various subjects are the members of the committee. Every year the library committee meetings are held regularly. In this meeting the budget is prepared every year. Also in it the members of the committee discuss about purchase of textbooks, reference books, journals etc. And from that the appropriate requirement is prepared. And then it is sent by the librarian to the principal of the college. From this the principal takes the approval of the institution. And sends its subscription to the librarian. After receiving the books, the librarian registers the books in the library. All the relevant details of all the books such as publisher, vendor, price, year of publication, and bills are prepared. And then with the permission of the principal for the payment, the account department makes the payment to the dealers. Our college library has purchased software like Del Net for students to gain knowledge. It is being used to a great extent by teachers and students for research as well as for gaining knowledge.
